PREFACE

Whenever a new book on any subject is presented to the public, every interested reader properly expects good and sufficient reasons to be assigned, and the authors of these spellers desire to place before the teachers of the country their reasons for the issuing of this Graded Series.

It is a reproach to our schools that poor results in spelling are the rule, notwithstanding the fact that a large share of the school-day is devoted to the subject; and this being the case, it is natural that interested teachers should attempt to find a remedy, sparing no means to economize precious time in every subject of school study.

We believe that the poor results in spelling are not due to indifference on the part of the pupils or the teachers, but rather to the manner in which the spelling books of the day have been planned and arranged. In this connection it may be proper to state that the authorship of these many spelling books is to be ascribed to teachers not actually engaged in the teaching of spelling.

The period in which the art of spelling is most easily acquired is the first eight years of school life; and it requires an intimate knowledge of young pupils and a careful estimate of their ability to enable one to arrange spelling lessons of the proper length and gradation. Hence, the teachers who actually do the work in the several grades are the ones from whom to get the necessary material properly graded, as, for instance, the subject matter of the lessons; the subjects appropriate to the seasons; the proper and proportionate amount of dictation work, the immense value of all of which, in saving priceless time, the practical teacher knows so well.

These are the facts that have influenced the authors of the Columbia Graded Spellers to add still another spelling book to the subject and to call to their aid teachers who are actually doing the work in the schools. How much success they have won must be gathered from the books themselves, but our earnest hope is that a forward step has been taken.

The scope of the Series extends over eight years, distinctly graded for the successive years. This work, thus graded, is now actually being done by the teachers of the very schools now supervised by the authors of these books, and we believe that any school term of ordinary length can cover fully the work assigned to each year. The importance of the written exercise in teaching spelling is fully recognized, and hence every fifth lesson throughout the series is a dictation lesson—one lesson in dictation for every week. The reviews in both spelling and dictation are so frequent that they seem to us to meet every demand likely to be made by any teacher.

The greatest care has been exercised in the selection of memory gems from the best American and English authors, the aim being to elevate the moral tone of the pupils as well as to train the æsthetic taste, and in making these selections the essential feature of every well-constructed school-book has not been overlooked, namely, GRADATION.

Without attempting or desiring to go into an analysis of all the minute details of these spellers the authors desire rather to call attention to the general features: that they cover eight years of the school life of the child; that a fair proportion of graded dictation is provided; that the extracts used are of the very best American and English writings; that the lessons are of uniform size and proper gradation; and that the reviewing is of frequent recurrence. These should be the essential features of any books designed for spelling work in graded schools, and we trust that an examination of them by the great body of American teachers may reveal the fact that our claims are fairly founded.

Our acknowledgments are due Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin & Co. for the privilege of using many valuable quotations from writers of whose works they are the authorized publishers.

PUBLISHERS' NOTE.

The lessons in this series of spellers are intended to furnish work for the pupils of the elementary and grammar schools for a period of eight years. The work for each year is the result of a careful and extensive study of the ability and needs of the pupils of the various grades, by the teachers who are actually engaged in doing the work. The word-lessons are arranged in uniform size for each year, and the dictation-lessons are well graded and within the comprehension of the pupils. The demand of teachers from every section of the country for such an arrangement of words and dictation matter has been the influence which has inspired the publication of these spellers by this house.

“Tell me, sunny goldenrod, growing everywhere,
Did fairies come from fairyland and make the dress you wear ?

Did you get from mines of gold your bright and shining hue,

Or did the baby stars some night fall down and cover you ?

I love you, laughing goldenrod, and I will try like you

To fill each day with deeds of cheer,
Be loving, kind and true.”

LESSON 158. DICTATION

Goldenrod

“I am a lonely little flower. I come when nearly all the wild flowers have said good-by.
Little children like to gather me. I suppose it is because they love my bright yellow stars. Would they love me so much if I came in the spring ?”

“Who has seen the wind?

Neither I nor you,

But when the leaves are trembling

The wind is passing through.

Who has seen the wind?

Neither you nor I,

But when the leaves bow down their heads

The wind is passing by.”

LESSON 248. DICTATION

The wind makes the clouds move and it cools the air. It also helps to scatter the seeds. Some winds are strong and some are gentle. The wind that comes from the North is always strong and cold. The South wind is warm. The East wind brings rain with it sometimes, and is often gentle. The West wind is a strong wind.

 The daisies are the stars below,
 Twinkling and sparkling as they grow.

The star buds blossom in the night,
 And love the moon's calm tender light.
 But daisies bloom out in the day,
 And watch the bright sun on his way.”

LESSON 266. DICTATION

 In the eastern sky, the rainbow,
 Whispered, 'What is that, Nakomis?'
 And the good Nakomis answered:
 'Tis the heaven of flowers you see there;
 All the wild flowers of the forest,
 All the lilies of the prairie,
 When on earth they fade and perish,
 Blossom in that heaven above us.' "

LESSON 284. DICTATION

Hiawatha

Hiawatha was a little boy. He asked about a great many things. He wanted to know about the rainbow. His grandmother said that it was the heaven of flowers. She said that when the wild flowers and lilies die they blossom again. This makes the lovely rainbow.

A Little Boy's Walk

A little boy went walking
One lovely summer's day;
He saw a little rabbit
That quickly ran away.

He saw a shining river
Go winding in and out;
And little fishes in it
Were swimming all about.

And slowly, slowly turning
The great wheel of the mill;
And then the tall church steeple,
The little church so still.

The bridge above the water,
And when he stopped to rest
He saw among the bushes
A wee ground sparrow's nest.

He saw the insects playing,
The flowers that summer brings;
He said, "I'll go tell mamma,
I've seen so many things!"

LESSON 301. DICTATION

The Flag

Every nation has its flag. Our flag is red, white and blue. It has thirteen stripes, six of which are white and seven are red. The thirteen stripes stand for the first thirteen States. There are forty-eight stars set in a blue field. These show the number of States we now have.

Little by Little

"Low on the ground an acorn lies,
 Little by little it mounts the skies ;
 Shadow and shelter for wandering herds,
 Home for a hundred singing birds.
 Little by little the great rocks grew,
 Long, long ago, when the world was new ;
 Slowly and silently, stately and free,
 Cities of coral, under the sea,
 Little by little are builded, while so
 The new years come and the old years go."

LESSON 319. DICTATION

There are many beautiful things to be seen in the woods and fields, and by the running brooks. Did you know that many, very many beautiful things were to be found hidden away in the dark earth? The bright gold and silver and many other useful metals and minerals are buried in this way. Sparkling diamonds and other stones of great value are taken from the ground every day.

The Indians

The white people came to this country over four hundred years ago. They found strange people here such as they had never seen before. They called them Indians. These people had copper colored skins, high cheek bones, and coarse, straight, black hair. They wore very little clothing. They liked to paint their bodies, and wear beads, shells and feathers as ornaments.

Birds' Nests

"The skylark's nest among the grass
 And waving corn is found ;
 The robin's in a shady tree,
 With green leaves thick around.

Crows build together in the woods,
 And often disagree ;
 The owl will build inside a barn,
 Or in a hollow tree.

The blackbird's nest of grass and mud
 In brush and bank is found ;
 The lapwing's darkly spotted eggs
 Are laid upon the ground."

LESSON 355. DICTATION

Have you ever seen a picture of Eskimo children? Their clothing is quite different from ours. Their coats and dresses are made of the thick skin and furs taken from animals. Their homes, too, are unlike any we have ever seen. They are built of snow and ice.

 Out in the apple tree where he is swinging :
 Brave little fellow ! the skies may be dreary ;
 Nothing cares he while his heart is so cheery.

Hark ! how the music leaps out from his throat—

Hark ! was there ever so merry a note ?

Listen awhile, and you'll hear what he's saying,

Up in the apple tree, swinging and swaying.”

LESSON 373. DICTATION

A great many years ago we had no bicycles, trolley cars or railways. People had to travel on horseback or in coaches. It took two whole days to go from Philadelphia to New York. Now we can go in two hours. It is much more pleasant to take a long journey now than it was one hundred years ago.

Our school boys formed a company. They made John their captain. In the summer they play games. Last November they went coasting for the first time. It was pleasant exercise, although the snow was not very deep. They have many good times.

 The winter goes and the summer comes,
 And the merry bluebirds twitter and trill,
 And the swallow swings on his steel blue wings
 This way and that way at wildest will."

LESSON 391. DICTATION

In a great many ways plants are like animals. They eat, drink, breathe and sleep. Plants take their food through thousands of little mouths that are in their leaves. They breathe through their leaves, too. They need good earth, water and sunshine to make them grow.

 Cleave the tough greensward with the spade,
 Wide let its hollow bed be made,
 There gently lay its roots, and there
 Sift the dark mold with kindly care,
 And press it o'er them tenderly,
 As round the sleeping infant's feet,
 We softly fold the cradle sheet,
 So plant we the apple tree."

LESSON 409. DICTATION

The elephant is a very large animal that lives in hot countries. Many of them live in the southern part of Asia and the northern part of Africa. They are trained to be useful to men. When treated kindly they are very gentle, and will carry heavy burdens. Many beautiful things are made from the long, white, ivory tusks of the elephant.

The Squirrel

“The pretty red squirrel lives up in a tree,
 A blithe little creature as ever can be,
 He dwells in the boughs where the stock dove broods,
 Far in the shade of the green summer woods.
 His food is the young juicy cones of the pine;
 And the milky beechnut is his bread and his wine.”

LESSON 427. DICTATION

The Squirrel.

The squirrel is a bright, active little fellow who can work as well as play. In the autumn, he stores away all the nuts he can find for his winter's food. He has a safe, snug little home in a hollow tree. He is very timid, and quickly runs from the ground to his home in the tree top, when any one comes near. Have you ever watched the little squirrel while he ate his dinner?

“All day long in the corn field, so weary,
Father has toiled in the heat of the sun ;
Now the great bell from the farm-yard rings cheery,
Telling us all that his labor is done.

Far in the west streaks of crimson are shining,
Where the last sunbeam is just out of sight ;
Slowly and brightly I watched its declining,
Through the old elm-trees, all golden with light.

Soon will the night come, the darkness will gather
Over the fields, and the trees and the leaves ;
And the round moon will shine where father
Reaped down the harvest, and bound the brown sheaves.”

LESSON 444. DICTATION

Willie's First Visit to the Farm

One pleasant evening in July, Willie arrived at his uncle's farm. He was tired out by a long day's journey, and soon went to bed. The next morning he fed Aunt Lizzie's hens and chickens. After dinner he drove his uncle's horse to the post-office. On the way home he called at Cousin George's store and bought some tea, coffee and sugar. He packed them carefully in the wagon. Driving through a beautiful woods he soon reached his uncle's,

The Sparrow's Song

"I'm only a little sparrow,
A bird of low degree ;
My life is of little value,
But the dear Lord cares for me.

He gives me a coat of feathers ;
It is very plain I know,
Without a speck of crimson—
For it was not made for show.

And now the springtime cometh,
I will build me a little nest,
With many a chirp of pleasure,
In the spot I like the best."

LESSON 462. DICTATION

Playing Store

"Annie and Mary are very fond of playing store. They take a board for a counter, and sell thread, buttons, ribbons, pencils and thimbles. They have some toy money, and it is real fun to be the storekeeper and make change. They think they will enlarge their stock and sell nuts and candy. If they do, I think the little storekeepers will eat up their stock."

Tell-tales

“Pussy willow had a secret that the snowdrop whispered her,
And she purred it to the south wind while it stroked her velvet fur ;
And the south wind hummed it softly to the busy honey bees,
And they buzzed it to the blossoms on the scarlet maple trees,
And these dropped it to the wood brooks brimming full of melted snow,
And the brooks told Robin Redbreast as he chattered to and fro ;
Little Robin could not keep it, so he sung it loud and clear
To the sleepy fields and meadows, ‘Wake up! cheer up! spring is here!’”

LESSON 480. DICTATION

Two Boys

“One boy is named Johnny, and one, Rob. They live next door to each other, and each one does the chores night and morning. Johnny puts his work off as long as he can, and then he grumbles all the time he is getting the coal and feeding the chickens. Rob whistles about his work, does it neatly, and then has time to play before school. I wonder how many boys are like Rob, and how many like Johnny.”

“A wee little nut lay deep in its nest,
Of satin and down, the softest and best ;
And slept and grew while its cradle rocked,
As it hung in the boughs that interlocked.
Now the house was small where the cradle lay,
As it swung in the winds by night and day ;
For a thicket of underbrush fenced it round,
This little, lone cot by the great sun browned.

The little nut grew, and ere long it found
There was work outside on the soft green ground ;
It must do its part, so the world might know
It had tried one little seed to sow.
And soon the house that had kept it warm,
Was tossed about by the autumn storm ;
The stem was cracked, the old house fell,
And the chestnut burr was an empty shell.”

LESSON 498. DICTATION

The Bear

The paws of a bear have long sharp claws with which he is able to defend himself. The bear has been known to seize his foe, or his prey, around the body and hug him till he died. With his claws the bear digs for roots and insects; with them, also, he is able to climb trees. The color of the bear is usually brown or white. The white bear inhabits the cold regions where there is much snow. It is, therefore, often called the white polar bear.

Many years ago we did not have any system of printing. All books had to be written, and this was not practical. There were many obstacles in the way. One was the necessity of writing each book, and this cost a great deal of money, and few people could possess books. Since we have had printing, books are much cheaper, and most people can own them.

“With the glory of winter sunshine
Over his locks of gray,
In the old historic mansion
He sat on his last birthday ;

With his books and his pleasant pictures,
And his household and his kin,
While a sound as of myriads singing
From afar and near stole in.

It came from his own fair city,
From the prairie’s boundless plain,
From the Golden Gate of sunset,
And the cedarn woods of Maine.”

LESSON 516. DICTATION

The Fox and the Goat

A fox was once drinking at an open well when he suddenly fell in. The water was not deep enough to drown him, but he could not climb out. He had not been there long when a goat came to the well and asked if the water was good to drink. “Excellent,” answered the fox, “and there is plenty of it.” The goat jumped in, and the fox made use of the goat’s back as a stepping-stone, and leaped out exclaiming, “What a pity your brains are not equal to your beard !”—ÆSOP.

Origin of Memorial Day

“It was a woman’s tender thought ;
Her slender hand the first wreath wrought,
And she a grateful nation taught
To garland thus the dead ;
So long as gallant knights shall ride,
To win by valor lovely bride,
And music stirs the true and tried
Shall this of her be said.

Dear children on your errand go ;
The errand of Memorial Day ;
With flags and flowers, make the graves
Of all our gallant soldiers gay.
In speech and song, their work recall,
And to that work, due honor pay.
Each hero’s precious memory
Still cherish on Memorial Day.”

LESSON 534. DICTATION

The Jackdaw

An old miser had a tame jackdaw that used to steal pieces of money, and hide them in a hole. The cat saw him do this, and said, “Why do you hide those round shining things that are of no use to you?” “Why,” said the jackdaw, “my master has a whole chest full of them, and makes no more use of them than I do.”

Bisons, sometimes called buffaloes, formerly lived in the western part of North America in great multitudes. The rapid growth in the West made it impossible for them to stay there in such large numbers. They were driven farther and farther from the interior, because there was not room to accommodate them. Consequently few of them are found in this country now.

A soldier has to accustom himself to many privations. He often has to travel long distances without food or water. He cannot afford to give up to trivial discomforts. The Daisy's Mission

"I am going to blossom," a daisy said,
"Tho' the weather is cold and bleak."
"What for?" said another, lifting her head,
"It's too early, yet, by a week."

Said the daisy, "A voice whispers, 'Speed,'
So I'm wanted somewhere, I know."
"Well, I am too wise such voices to heed,
And you're very silly to go."

Memorial day dawned pleasant and bright,
The sun his warm rays gave ;
And there gleamed a star of purest white
On a soldier's lonely grave.

LESSON 552. DICTATION

Tea is the leaf of a plant which grows in China and Japan. The leaves are pointed at the ends and are of a dark green color. The flowers are white.

If you should go to those countries, you would see the south side of almost every hill covered to the top with the tea plant. It is not grown in large fields so much as in small gardens. Each garden belongs to one of the natives, and the tea, which he does not use, is sold to buy other necessities. The tea plant is raised from seeds. These plants must be taken care of for three years, before a crop can be gathered.

“What lesson are you especially fond of, Elizabeth?” asked Mary. “I get most enjoyment from studying history,” answered Elizabeth. “To-day we had part of the Civil War explained to us. I like to study about those valiant men and what they did for us. It is a great privilege to be able to know something about such brave, noble men.”

LESSON 562. DICTATION

Christopher Columbus spent his boyhood in Italy. At fourteen he began his life as a sailor. The sailors at that time were afraid of the sea, and thought that they would meet with certain destruction if they sailed far from land. When quite young, Columbus came to the conclusion that the world was round. He thought it possible to sail around it. He met with many disappointments, but on one voyage he discovered America.

LESSON 567. DICTATION

Did you ever see a picture of a rice plantation? Mary's uncle has a large property near Charleston, South Carolina. She went there on a visit last summer. Possibly she will tell you about it some time. It certainly is a beautiful sight to see a rice field. Rice is very much used as a food. In China it is very plentiful.

LESSON 569. MEMORY GEM

A Fancy from Fontenelle

“The rose in the garden slipped her bud,
And laughed in the pride of her youthful blood,
As she thought of the gardener standing by,—
‘He is old! so old! And he soon must die!’

The full rose waxed in the warm June air—
And she spread and spread till her heart lay bare;
And she laughed once more as she heard his tread,
‘He is older now! He will soon be dead!’

But the breeze of the morning blew, and found
That the leaves of the blown rose strewed the ground;
And he came at noon, that gardener old,
And he raked them softly under the mould.

And I wove the thing to a random rhyme,
For the Rose is Beauty, the Gardener, Time.”

LESSON 570. DICTATION

Two or three of the more thoughtless among the boys were ready to laugh at James for stopping to help an old woman. “It is but a little thing to do, boys,” he answered, “and then she is somebody’s mother. Some one, some time may give a helping hand to my mother, if it ever happen that she is poor, and old, and her own boy is far away.” The boys made no answer, for they felt that he was right.
